CONFERENCE OF BIG FOUR MINISTERS OPENS IN PARIS

HOT EXCHANGE AT HEARING TO EXTEND O.P.A.

IO Official Charges 'Certain Greedy Interests' Are Out To Sabotage Controls

CORE MANUFACTURERS

Washington, April 25—(P)—IO Secretary James E. Carey said today that "certain greedy interests" are out to sabotage price controls. He got into an immediate argument with Senator Millikin (R-Colo.) on whether party politics is involved.

The exchange took place at hearings of the senate banking committee on legislation to extend price controls a year beyond June 30.

Carey said two Republican members of the house had referred publicly to the OPA act as an economic narcotic. He cited this in saying there is in this country "an economic monarchy which makes its own laws."

Millikin protested that a lot of Democrats in the house had the same feeling as the two Republicans Carey mentioned. The senator argued that OPA is not a partisan issue.

Carey took several shots at the National Association of Manufacturers, which opposes OPA and has carried on an active campaign against it.

"N. A. M. has the worst 10 percent of the worst 10 percent of the employers of the country," he said.

He said he agreed with Senator Mitchell (D-Wash.) that "it is unfortunate that the American people do not have the resources of the N. A. M. to present its case in price controls."

"I haven't seen any lack of propaganda for OPA," Millikin remarked.

The house has voted to extend OPA nine months but with amendments which OPA sponsors call crippling.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) expressed his opinion to reporters today that OPA is losing out in efforts to remain one of its practices—the maximum average price regulation. It was designed to increase the production of lower-cost clothes.

Mrs. James A. Reed, widow of a senator and now head of the Donnelly Garment Company in Kansas City, dealt what Taft termed the killing blow to this regulation.

Mrs. Reed, in a spirited appearance before the committee—backed with an exhibit of scarce cotton dresses which made women spectators gasp—testified:

"Under the maximum average price regulation I am not permitted to sell as many $6.95 to $14.95 dresses as I could produce because cannot obtain sufficient material for $2.95 to $4.95 dresses to average out against the $6.95 to $14.95 dresses.

She added that never in 30 years has she seen in the stores "as poor quality, badly made dresses as at high prices as there are today."

Veteran's Divorce Makes All Happy

Pittsburgh, April 25—(P)—Only 10 minutes testimony was required to convince Judge Thomas M. Marshall that Mrs. Eleanor Thompson was entitled to a divorce from her husband, William M. (Red) Thompson, father of England's famous wartime quadruplets.

The court brushed aside technicalities which ordinarily would consume about a week and granted the divorce yesterday on grounds of indignities.

Everybody was happy about the outcome.

Thompson's wife originally had announced she would not divorce, partly on religious grounds. But in filing the action, she said she had consulted church authorities and was given permission to ask a divorce because of the unusual circumstances in the case.

"While the Catholic church does not recognize divorce," said Father Joseph Sullivan, who married the Thompsons, "Eleanor is still a Catholic unless she remarries."

Appeals Pouring In Urging Senators To Defend O. P. A.

Washington, April 25—(P)—As many as 1,000 or more letters and telegrams a day are pouring in on Pennsylvania's senators urging them to do what the administration-supporting Democrats are considering certain to do anyway—defend OPA.

Neither Joseph Guffey nor Frank Myers has announced publicly that his stand will be on the OPA bill, which was passed by the house last week. But from past performances they are generally regarded as among those senate Democrats certain to line up for the kind of OPA bill the administration seeks.

Myers' aides said all but a few

Two Candidates For State Offices Greeted In Warren

The large court room at the court house was almost completely filled this morning at eleven o'clock when two candidates for state office on the Republican ticket stopped en route from Erie to Smethport for a short reception.

The delegation was headed by James H. Duff, candidate for governor, and Colonel Daniel B. Strickler, candidate for lieutenant governor. They were accompanied by their aides.

Both candidates spoke briefly on the issues of the campaign after which a reception was held when those present were given an opportunity to meet them.

Judge Allison D. Wade presided and presented the candidates. He also introduced Mrs. Duff who is accompanying the officers.

Mr. Strickler was the first to be heard. He delivered a thoughtful, provoking talk in which he cited the need of cooperation between government and civilians in speeding the important objectives that must be faced by the nation.

Mr. Duff stressed three points in his short address, including the importance of eliminating steam pollution, public clinics and reforestation. The speaker emphasized the value of reforestation as an aid to public health. He discussed socialized medicine and expressed the need of public clinics rather than the program that is now under discussion by state and federal officials. Mr. Duff devoted some time to the need of reforestation, urging more nurseries to provide seedlings to replant barren hills of the state.

Last night at Erie the attorney general declared that one of his opponents, former State Secretary of Highways John U. Shroyer, had been making campaign promises "which he knows full well cannot be carried out."

Duff did not enumerate the promises to which he referred but declared the people of Pennsylvania would "see that they have a state government alert to postwar needs and one which can carry out its campaign pledges."

Of the national picture, Duff asserted "confusion, instability and insecurity" had resulted from the federal government's failure to relinquish extraordinary wartime powers.

"What we have in America today is a pattern of centralized government control that constantly becomes more and more like that which led to disaster in Europe," declared Duff.

Brig. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, who shared the platform with Duff, asserted "returning servicemen have found housing conditions entirely inadequate and see very little hope for improvement by Washington and declared 'no genuine effort' had been made by the national government 'to reduce the cost of living.'"

Next week Duff and Strickler will meet party workers Tuesday (Turn to Page Fifteen)

PENNSY FIREMAN KILLED

Tyrone, April 25—(P)—Struck by a passing train while leaning from the cab of his engine, Elwood H. Miller, 42, of Altoona, a locomotive fireman for Pennsylvania Railroad's Middle Division, was killed near here yesterday. His widow and several children survive.

BLAIR COUNTY MAN DIES IN FOREST FIRE

Altoona, April 25—(P)—Forest fire fighters battling flames in an orchard yesterday found the badly burned body of the owner, John H. Friday, 69, of Tyrone, Pa.

Dr. Daniel Replogle, Blair county coroner, said death may have been caused by a heart attack, to which Friday had been subject, or may have resulted from burns.

Friday had been burning tent caterpillars from fruit trees with a blow torch when underbrush at the edge of the orchard caught fire. Four acres of land was burned over. Fire wardens were called by school children who saw the smoke.

Friday was an assessor and road supervisor for Snyder township.

Spare Stamp 49 To Be Valid For Sugar

Washington, April 25—(P)—Spare stamp 49 in family ration books will become valid May 1 for five pounds of sugar.

Announcing this today, OPA said the new coupon will expire August 31. Sugar stamp 39, the last specifically labeled "sugar," will expire April 30. OPA said that on the basis of latest surveys it expects the present sugar ration of five pounds every four months can be maintained. In that case, another sugar stamp will be validated September 1.

Spare stamp 49 is in ration book four, as well as in the special sugar ration books issued to veterans and as replacements.

Solemn Rites Are Held For Chief Justice

Washington, April 25—(P)—President Truman, interrupting a vacation cruise, returned here today to attend the funeral of Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone.

Motoring from Quantico, Va., in a downpour of rain, Mr. Truman went to the White House for lunch and to pick up Mrs. Truman and their daughter Margaret, prior to driving to Washington Cathedral for the Stone services.

Immediately after the rites, the president planned to escort his family back to the White House and drive to the marine base at Quantico. There he will reboard the presidential yacht, the USS William B. Eustis, to continue his cruise until Sunday.

Church officials made arrangements to handle 2,000 persons expected to throng the great gothic edifice on one of the capital's hills.

Honorary pall-bearers were the associate justices of the supreme court, who were sitting with Chief Justice Stone when he was stricken fatally Monday. These included all of the high court's members except Justice Jackson, who is in Germany for the war crimes trials.

Three retired members of the court, Chief Justice Hughes and Justices McReynolds and Roberts, also have been designated honorary pall-bearers.

Goering Framed High Nazi Leaders

By NOLAND NORGARD
Nuernberg, April 25—(P)—A former German secret police official declared flatly today that Hermann Goering engineered frame-ups in 1938 which resulted in the dismissal of both the Reich war ministers and the army's chief of staff.

"The decisive last steps before the outbreak of war," Hans Bernd Gisevius, one-time Gestapo officer, testified before the international military tribunal that Goering had compelled a common criminal to identify Col. Gen. Werner von Fritsch, the army's chief of staff, as the perpetrator of an atrocious homosexual attack.

The dramatic denunciation of von Fritsch, whom the German moderates had regarded as a man to overthrow the Nazis, was made in Adolf Hitler's presence, the tall, bespectacled witness asserted. Nine days after Goering's own agents had established that the actual culprit in the case was one Capt. von Frisch.

British Loan Discussion Is Again Delayed

Washington, April 25—(P)—Another senate recess cost the bill-buster-threatened $3,750,000,000 British loan proposal an additional 24 hours delay today.

The senate adjourned without action Tuesday out of respect to the late Chief Justice Stone. Today's recess was to permit members to attend Stone's funeral.

Administration leaders, backing the loan legislation, showed evidence of increasing concern as the days passed with only talk and no votes.

Other pressing legislation is piled up behind the loan, and unless the jam is broken next week it probably will be necessary to lay the loan resolution aside in favor of a bill to extend Selective Service. The draft law expires May 15.

Senator Bilbo (D-Miss) maintained an over-the-recess hold on the floor to continue the anti-loan speech he began early yesterday afternoon. The Mississippian had not announced how long he intends to speak, but he dropped hints he would not be through before Monday.

COAL STRIKE TO CONTINUE LEWIS STATES

Chief of United Mine Workers Says Stoppage Will End When Operators Meet Demands

RESERVES SHRINKING

BULLETIN

Washington, April 25—(P)—A government labor official today confirmed John L. Lewis' disclosure that efforts are being made to bring President Benjamin F. Fairless of U. S. Steel Corporation into the deadlocked soft coal negotiations. The big steel firm is represented in the negotiations by Harry M. Moses, president of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, Pittsburgh.

Hazleton, April 25—(P)—John L. Lewis, president of the AFL-United Mine Workers, insists the 400,000 striking bituminous workers will continue their strike—outlasting the mine operators—until contract demands are met.

"It may be a week, a month or even six weeks," Lewis told the opening session of the Anthracite Tri-District Scale Convention today, "but operators in the bituminous industry will continue to be stopped. Who can operate mines without miners?"

Meanwhile, spokesmen for steel firms in Pittsburgh reported that the rapidly shrinking coal reserves threatened complete shutdown of many industrial plants unless the miners return to the pits.

The bushy-browed UMW chief blamed the United States Steel Corporation particularly for continuance of the soft coal walk-out and asserted that firm is not far from "acutely distressing the economic situation in America."

Lewis, citing the "no contract, no work" policy of the UMW, suspended two weeks ago—will remain deadlocked until the operators decide to renew parleys on the miners' principal demand—establishment of a health and welfare fund to be financed by the industry.

Lewis did not hedge in pointing his finger at U. S. Steel as the cause of the current deadlock in negotiations.

Spokesmen for U. S. Steel, which operates a number of bituminous mines—the so-called "captive mines"—had no immediate comment.

Approximately 450 delegates, representing 75,000 hard coal miners from Districts 1, 7 and 9, saw Lewis wave a copy of U. S. Steel's 1945 report and then shout:

"This report shows U. S. Steel charged off $125,000,000 last year for wear and exhaustion of plant facilities. Does it have any more right to deny a health and welfare fund for similar wear and exhaustion of humans?"

Lewis asserted he was informed by a "high government official" that efforts are being made to bring U. S. Steel President Benjamin Fairless into the soft coal negotiations. He added, however, that Fairless had "not arrived as yet."

Wage demands, he asserted, do not send prices up and cause inroads on coal markets by other fuels. Actually, "freight costs, high royalties, high executive salaries and multiplicity of sales organizations are responsible," he said.

Lewis hinted that contract proposals for the anthracite industry—when negotiations begin in New York about May 10—will be the same sought in the bituminous field.

'Y' Secretary At Oil City Is Heart Victim

Oil City, April 25—(P)—Arthur Maxwell Turney, 62, general secretary of the Oil City Y. M. C. A. for nearly 28 years and one of the city's best known residents, died suddenly of a heart attack at his home today.

Executive secretary for Venango county and the city in the last three War Bond drives, he was also secretary and treasurer of the Oil City Ministerial Association, former secretary of Rotary here, and active in the USO.

Starting with the "Y" as secretary for 28th Division troops overseas in World War 1, he was assigned here as general secretary in 1919. Born in Foxburg, he operated a grocery in Bellevue, near Pittsburgh, before going overseas.

Surviving are his widow, a daughter, his mother, Mrs. Annie Cook of Sligo, and a sister, Mrs. M. F. Kuhns of Sligo.

MARTIN SPEAKER AT CHURCH CONFERENCE

Altoona, April 25—(P)—Governor Edward Martin told the Central Pennsylvania Conference of Methodist Churches here last night that "if we have good, clean, economic government, the membership of the church must serve as our civic backbone."

Martin asserted "politics and government have a great common aim with the science of theology and continued."

"While we praise American free enterprise with our lips, we stand by while industry tries to kill competition; Labor preaches freedom of action but does not practice when it preaches; agriculture believes in independence yet reaches its hand into the pocket of government for more and more subsidies."

TRACTOR FATALITY

Titusville, April 25—(P)—A tractor overturned as it was being pulled out of the mud on the Earl McCullis farm north of here last night, killing the driver, Arthur Smith, 43, of Centerville, Deputy Coroner C. M. Sonne reported.

Controls Responsible For Holding Shoe Prices Down May Be Removed By O.P.A.

Washington, April 25—(P)—With OPA's approval, the Civilian Production Administration pushed plans today to suspend a manufacturing control which helped hold shoe prices down during the war. And OPA laid some plans of its own to boost prices on low-cost shoes in an effort to make more of them available.

Meanwhile, there were these other developments touching consumer needs and pocketbooks:

1. OPA rushed a survey to determine whether its regulations will jeopardize shipment of men's suits to stores after May 1.

2. Dealers met with OPA to discuss the possibility of a tire price increase.

OPA's shoe production control has required manufacturers to turn out the same proportion of low-priced footwear they did during 1942. The principle is the same as that on which OPA's loudly-criticized maximum average price regulation on clothing is based.

OPA had planned to wipe the shoe order off the books, OPA objected and the agencies compromised on a plan to suspend it. This would permit re-instatement of the order should shoe prices get out of hand.

A CPA official who withheld use of his name said the order is not needed any more because shoe production has climbed so much. He estimated present output at about 42,000,000 pair monthly, or close to 10,000,000 pairs more than in any previous month.

OPA believes that with production running at that rate, manufacturers will turn out plenty of low-cost shoes voluntarily.

But despite this and its agreement to go along, OPA is finding it necessary to increase inexpensive shoe prices to obtain more production. An indirect reason is to discourage manufacture of new high-priced lines.

An OPA official estimated the price increase may be about 10 per cent. The plan is to apply it only to models which were made in 1942 and which probably will sell at $5 or less.

As for men's suits, OPA began its study yesterday after a clothing industry spokesman had asserted that suits delivered to retail stores would have to stop May 1 unless the maximum average price regulation is amended.

The agency is checking manufacturers' cost and production records, and expects, officials said, that the average price order will have to be liberalized because of the shortage of low-cost fabric.

Any tire price increase will be to offset a wage boost recently granted by the rubber industry. OPA reportedly already has indicated to tire producers that they will receive a price hike. The purpose of today's meeting with dealers is to decide whether any increase allowed should be passed on to the public.

Labor Unions Plan Drives In the South

Associated Press Labor Reporter
By MAX HALL
Atlantic City, N. J., April 25—(P)—The rivalry between CIO and AFL unions in the textile industry flared up anew today, preaging a bitter struggle between the groups in their forthcoming organizing drives in the south.

The CIO group declared the smaller AFL unit no longer was "even a minor threat" and that it was "on its last legs." The AFL union replied that the charge was a "hysterical" one based on fear. Each pointed to recent victories in plant elections to support its claims.

While the inter-union struggle has been going on for years, it is especially important now because it illustrated how the CIO and AFL in their southern organizing efforts may expend much of their energy fighting each other.

The Monongahela river has given up the fourth victim of a canoeing tragedy last Armistice day but 78-year-old Morgan Lewis still maintained today his lone vigil on the river bank, waiting for the body of the fifth victim, his 14-year-old grandson, Charles Lewis, Jr.

During the five months of late fall, winter and early spring the grandfather has watched each day near the spot where the boys drowned.

He has insisted that as soon as the waters become warm in the spring—or perhaps sooner—the bodies would come to the surface. Three of the bodies were recovered immediately after the boat in which the boys were frolicking was capsized by a heavy wave.

The fourth, that of Rivert Baker, 12, floated to the surface yesterday, and was discovered by a fisherman, only 10 feet from shore.

World Security Council To Resume Discussion On Spain

New York, April 25—(P)—The World Security Council on this first anniversary of the United Nations' San Francisco organizational meeting today was shaping a policy on how far afield it may go to detect and suppress any alleged plot to breach the peace.

A far-reaching plan of inquiry has been urged by Australia in her generally well-received proposal that the Council investigate Franco Spain fully before voting on Poland's motion for a collective U. N. diplomatic break with that excluded, non-member nation.

Poland has charged that the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco shelters fugitive Nazi war-plotters and scientists who may be conducting researches in atomic energy; menaces the French frontier with a massing of troops and is a potential hotbed for a new war.

Although prolonged discussion on the methods of investigation was anticipated when the Council meets at 3 p. m., there were indications that the Australian plan would be acceptable in some form. Adoption would broaden the council's scope and open the way for detailed inquiry into the affairs of Spain or any suspect nation.

It has been discussed widely among the delegations in private with indications of gathering support and it now for the first time finds the Big Three apparently in agreement on principle.

MANY VITAL ISSUES TO BE CONSIDERED

Greatest Difficulty Facing Parley Is Discussion On Treaty To Relieve Italian Situation

STUDY MEDITERRANEAN

By LOUIS NEVIN

Paris, April 25—(P)—Foreign Ministers of the United States, Russia, Great Britain and France met today in Luxembourg palace for the purpose of preparing treaties to end the greatest war in history.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was the first of the visiting ministers to enter the palace where the four leading powers will attempt to iron out differences which had blocked efforts to draft peace treaties for Italy, Rumania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Finland.

It was Byrnes who suggested the conference be convened to solve problems which have deadlocked a council of deputy foreign ministers in London for months and caused a postponement of the scheduled May 1 European peace conference.

Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov of Russia arrived almost immediately after Byrnes. Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Great Britain waved to the crowd and entered the palace last. The three guests were welcomed by French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

The conference began shortly after the scheduled 4 p. m. (11 a. m. St. time), exactly on the 1st anniversary of President Truman's speech to the San Francisco conference which drafted the United Nations charter.

Luxembourg palace was decorated with flags of the four nations and surrounded by hundreds of policemen who kept the square before the building cleared.

The greatest difficulty facing the foreign ministers—Ernest Bevin of Britain, Georges Bidault of France, Vyacheslav M. Molotov of Russia and Byrnes—was expected in reaching an agreement on the treaty to end Italy's nearly three years of "hand-to-mouth" existence.

The four powers are divided over Russian preparation demands on Italy, on Russia's desire for control of Tripolitania, and on Soviet demands for bases in the Dodecanese.

One of the horniest problems, however, apparently had been solved with announcement of a virtual accord on the tauchy problem of the Italian-Yugoslav border in Venezia-Giulia.

Occupation Forces To Be Kept Busier

Frankfurt, Germany, April 25—(P)—Rigorous measures combat a deterioration of discipline among American troops in Europe, including busy training schedules for all and 11 p. m. curfew for soldiers with bad conduct records—were ordered today by Gen. Joseph T. McNarney.

The European commander-in-chief, admitting that morale and discipline have declined seriously within the last few months, told a news conference he had issued orders that "prompt corrective measures must be taken to remove the cause, deal swiftly and justly with the offenders and limit and prevent any further occurrences."

Earlier army officers had recommended that the troops be given plenty of work on the drill field as one means of fighting an excessive venereal disease rate.

Maj. Claude M. Eberhart of Chicago, venereal disease control officer for the European theatre, proposed that all major commands in Europe "return to garrison life" and its strict discipline to fight venereal disease, which he said now averages 211 cases per thousand men per year.

Gen. McNarney, in his orders to tighten discipline, listed the "excessive venereal disease rate" as one indication of deteriorating GI morale and discipline. Maj. Eberhart said the annual rate rose from 52 cases per thousand on V-E Day to highs of 427 per thousand in some areas.

Famous Boys' Court Judge Will Lecture Here May 1st

Guilty or not guilty? Who is to blame? Is it the community, the home, the church, the school, the individual? Who has fallen down? What can the courts do?

These are a few of the questions Judge J. M. Braude, of the Boys' Court of Chicago, undertakes to answer on the basis of his long and intense personal experience, in his Talk-of-the-Month Club lecture. Judge Braude will be presented in Warren by the local Talk-of-the-Month Club chapter on Wednesday evening of next week, May 1.

In charge of this fourth and last of the current series of lecture-forum meetings will be the Young Men's Christian Association.

Judge J. M. Braude

ion, one of the four local sponsors, the others being the Men's Bible Class of the First Methodist church, the College Women's Club and the Y. W. C. A. The meeting will open promptly at 8:30 p. m. and will be held in Founders Hall of the First Methodist church.

Having dedicated his life to the youth problem, Judge Braude has become a national authority on the subject of juvenile and adolescent delinquency. He has seen more than 15,000 boys between the ages of 17 and 21 in his court, and has always stressed the "individualization" of the problem of the problem boy. A forceful, fluent speaker, Judge Braude inspires and stimulates audiences of both men and women wherever he appears. Informal, modest—yet with the authority of facts and experience—he presents a searching picture of adolescent youth, that has won him a nationwide attention.

Mrs. Bertram Messerly and Ralph H. Wagner, president and secretary-treasurer respectively of the local Talk-of-the-Month Club, wish to call attention to the fact that the reservation forms passed out at the last meeting of the club are to be turned-in at the session next Wednesday night. For those who did not receive one of these forms or who may have lost theirs, there will be a supply in the hands of an official at the door the night of the Judge Braude lecture.

These advance reservations for membership in the Club will indicate to the officers how much interest there is in the continuance of the Talk-of-the-Month Club arrangement for a lecture-forum next fall and winter. This is strictly a no-profit, no-deficit proposition and plans must be based entirely upon the number of memberships actually received. To get the best speakers available, it is essential that preliminary arrangements be completed in the near future. Naturally, membership fees will be refunded should the lecture-forum for 1946-47 fail to materialize.

Breaks Neck In Fall While On Bridge Job

William Switzer, of Veedersburg, Ind., who is employed by the Pentryn System fell while at work on a bridge pier near the old gun-cotton plant on the New York Central Railroad yesterday. He was engaged with others in pointing up the masonry work on the bridge and in some manner lost his footing and fell to the ground below.

He was hurriedly given medical aid and removed to the Warren General Hospital where it was discovered that he had fractured one of the vertebrae in his neck. At the hospital it was stated today that his condition is fair.

The Pentryn System is a construction firm of Cleveland, Ohio, and has been doing repair work on bridges and culverts of the New York Central railroad in this section.

They were working on the bridge which spans the Coneywango creek about a mile and a half south of Russell when the accident occurred.

C. Sholtzberger Main Speaker At VB Banquet

The Spikers volleyball team which won the championship of the YMCA Volleyball League was feted last night in the banquet hall of the YMCA by the three losing teams in the league.

The dinner hit a new high in hilarity as Myron Jewell delivered his four point charge to the newly crowned champions in his presentation of awards to the Spikers. The champions were presented with a beautifully painted, decorated, and beribboned five gallon coffee pot which will be placed in the Business Men's locker room. Each member of the team received a beautifully hand-painted lapel award upon which was inscribed all the traditional information found upon championship awards.

Clyde Sholtzberger, Northwest District Secretary of the 'Y', gave a very interesting talk on the attitudes and the abilities required of the players in a game of volleyball. He referred often to his experiences and observations acquired through many years in physical work in the game of volleyball.

His remarks regarding the various styles of playing the game were particularly well received by the group. Brackett Ayers expressed the appreciation of the Setters for their opportunity to take part in the league and read a letter received from one of the many fans of the league which praised various individuals for their outstanding play during the season.

Ray Lewis, captain of the Spikers, accepted the team trophy and expressed the appreciation of himself and his teammates for the fine dinner which they had received. Red Wood spoke on behalf of the Termites and expressed the hope that next year volleyball will be attempted on an inter-association scale. The toastmaster chores were handled by Lloyd Shirk who in his opening remarks complimented the men upon the fine co-operation he had received from them during the past season.

Uncle Sam Says

Sixty-three years ago this month, Americans discovered a new way of joshing a neighbor who invested his money unwisely: "Go buy yourself Brooklyn Bridge." Brooklyn Bridge had just been opened. Some people actually turned over their savings to confidence men who sold them the great New York span. I could say to you today: "Go buy yourself a bridge," and I would be giving you sound advice. The bridge I have in mind consists of United States Savings Bonds... a bridge between the present and your future.

ANNIVERSARY PROBLEMS

The Big Four foreign ministers are meeting in Paris exactly one year after the United Nations delegates convened in San Francisco to draft a charter for the preservation of world peace. The Paris meeting will again take up the task of settling some paralyzing differences which have endured among the great powers for seven anxious months. And until that task is done the road to peace, progress and prosperity is blocked.

The United Nations, as a world organization, has taken some impressive strides in its first year. Already it has met with difficulties and solved them in an adequate if not brilliant manner. But, for all its hopeful activity, the UN has really been marking time. For it cannot protect and maintain peace until it knows what sort of a peace it will have to deal with.

There has been nothing impressive in the activities of the Council of Foreign Ministers. Its London meeting of September-October wound up a discouraging and complete failure. At the end of 22 days the ministers were so completely at odds that it was not even possible to issue a final communique. There was not one positive accomplishment or any plans for the future.

A subsequent meeting in Moscow accomplished little more than to set the date for the forthcoming conferences. The ministers remained stalled on the question of a treaty with Italy, which had top place on the agenda. There are numerous questions there which so far have been irreconcilable. And there are other matters awaiting discussion which promises to be equally troublesome until certain fundamental differences are ironed out.

Key differences were all too apparent at the London meeting. Russia, rather typically, insisted that the three most powerful prosecutors of the war should make all the decisions regarding the peace. In practice, it developed that Russia had certain demands to make from which she would not budge, and until they were met there would be no progress toward peace treaties or lasting peace.

At London, and later at Moscow, Secretary Byrnes did not show to particularly good advantage. He appeared to be handicapped by the lack of a definite, positive, long-range foreign policy.

Since the Moscow meeting in December, however, the American government's attitude has stiffened perceptibly, even though its foreign policy is still the vaguest in the Big Three, and there remains a strong popular and congressional disposition to reduce our armed forces below the danger line.

That attitude must be maintained, not to override other powers and impose our will upon them, but to impress upon them that compromise is the only solution, and that it must be arrived at quickly.

Justice or inequity, contentment or unrest, war or peace, and the fate of millions, are intimately concerned with the results of these compromises. No one nation can force its nationalistic aims upon the world. It is largely up to the United States, because of its strength and political ideals, to see that this prohibition is enforced.

"ONE YEAR AGO" FEATURE

Just a year ago today an ill-gotten empire was on the brink of collapse. Anglo-American and Russian armies, triumphant in their sweeps from the east and the west, were severing the tired heart of Adolf Hitler's Germany. And death clutched too at Adolf Hitler himself, waxen-pale and hope-bereft in his air-raid shelter; and at the fat throat of his fellow conspirators against humanity, Benito Mussolini.

Soon there followed the seal of Nazidom's doom, at Reims.

Those epochal days, stirring to the heart and mind, will be recalled in a daily NEA Service picture feature, "Just a Year Ago Today." The first release will be found in this issue of the Times-Mirror.

We are sure readers will find themselves absorbed by this pictorial review of the swift, breathless closing scenes of the great military drama in Europe. The series will make an interesting and instructive addition to scrap books of World War II.

MACKENZIE'S Column

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
The battle between the United States government and black market operators for 50,000,000 bushels of corn, gravely needed for relief in foreign famine areas, emphasizes the importance of this grain in the present world-shortage of foodstuffs—an importance recognized in America and a few other corn-countries but not generally appreciated in Europe (outside the Balkans) and Asia.

Corn bids fair to save a lot of lives in this crisis, and yet it's a peculiar circumstance that literally hundreds of millions in Asia never even heard of this plebeian grain, and still other millions in Europe know it if at all as feed for pigs and chickens. If history repeats itself we shall have to conduct a culinary campaign in those countries to which corn is sent.

Back in the first World War when England was hungry because of the fierce German blockade, food administrator Herbert Hoover tried to persuade the Britons to use corn meal for food. I was there at the time and recall that he enlisted the aid of the big daily newspapers which ran full-page ads extolling the virtues of corn bread and other corn foods. Detailed recipes were given for the guidance of the housewife.

But would John Bull eat corn? We would not—said it was fit only for pigs and chickens. He preferred to go hungry. Incidentally John calls it maize and uses the word "corn" as a generic term for grain in general.

Under normal circumstances it's probable that much of Europe would adopt a similar attitude, but not these days when the plague of starvation is sweeping across the continent. Give them the corn, tell them how to use it and we may be sure they'll bless the donors.

Of course the Balkans are great growers of corn. In the rich Danubian basin I've seen rolling fields of it so large that they reminded one of Iowa.

In normal times the Balkans are able to export corn to other parts of Europe for animals and poultry. Statistics aren't available but it's hardly likely that there's even enough corn for local requirements now. War raised havoc with agriculture in the Balkans and there hasn't yet been time for rehabilitation. Also there has been a drought in that area.

Thus corn for hungry Europe and Asia must come mainly from the western hemisphere and from South Africa. So if Uncle Sam can keep that 50,000,000 bushels from the clutches of the black-market-ers he will have made a mighty contribution to the desperate needs of the hungry millions.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Best War Memorial I Know

There's an old war memorial in our town that I like to stop and look at now and then.

Back in 1865, folks gathered up all the bitter relics of battle and put them in a pile: cannon, battered rifles, broken swords, and rusted bayonets. Some of them from our side, some captured from the enemy.

They melted them down, and from this litter of war sprung a monument to friendship, tolerance and understanding—a promise that the bitterness and hatred were forgotten.

Since then, there've been all kinds of disagreements in this country, big and little. Prohibition was one—and there was plenty of bloodshed, misery and grief until the problem was resolved.

But from where I sit, it's part of the greatness of America that we remain a united country. We may disagree as individuals—but, accepting that difference of opinion, we can live in tolerance and mutual respect.

Just a Year Ago Today—

In the darkening mid-afternoon of April 25, 1945, a young American second lieutenant crawled halfway across a wrecked bridge over the Elbe river at Torgau, Germany. He was met by a young fur-capped Russian. They clasped hands, exchanged greeting, "To- varich!" "Hello!" Their simple meeting symbolized the historic junction of the Anglo-American and Russian armies. The tired heart of Adolf Hitler's Germany had been cut in two. Disintegration of the defending Nazi forces became apparent everywhere. It was the dawn of victory for Allied arms.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

In medieval Italian comedy the plot was written out but the dialogue was improvised by the actors. This art form was called "commedia dell'arte."

Restocking Of Game Area Is Now Planned

Harrisburg, April 23—Depleted game covers should be considerably replenished this fall and next spring, according to an announcement made today by Pennsylvania Game officials.

In making public a major portion of its proposed restocking program officials said the Commission approved the purchase of 13,950 ringneck pheasants for fall delivery from Pennsylvania breeders only; 9,700 pheasant for spring 1947 delivery from both Pennsylvania and out-of-state breeders; and 2,000 bobwhite quail for spring 1947 delivery.

In addition, the Commission plans to raise at its four game farms approximately 40,000 to 50,000 ringneck pheasants, 15,000 bobwhite quail and 5,000 wild turkeys, and is hopeful that cooperation sportsmen's clubs will raise an additional 30,000 to 40,000 pheasants from day-old chicks furnished them from the game farms.

LANDER

Lander, April 22—Mrs. Warren Wilcox, owner of Farmington Grange gives this announcement for their meeting to be held Thursday evening, April 25 at 8:15 p. m. in the Grange hall. Let's clean house! Dust off the men and bring them along to Grange. For this meeting is to give the men a chance to tell the women what they do wrong and how they can improve their house cleaning systems. Dress up all your old house cleaning ideas with something new and bring them along to Grange for someone else to use. A prize for the best idea submitted. A pot luck supper will be served after the meeting.

The Hill and Dale Garden Club will meet Wednesday with Mrs. Paul Lindell, Russell-Lander road. Miss Ardelle Mae Spencer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Spencer and Ralph Raymond Falconer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Falconer, both of Lander were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, April 20 in the Grace Methodist church at Warren.

Rev. Harold Knappenger performed the ceremony. The bride was attended by her cousin, Mrs. Maynard Beck and Richard Falconer attended his brother as best man. Mrs. Falconer, mother of the groom also witnessed the ceremony. The bride wore a rose colored suit with corsage of white sweet peas and pink roses. Mrs. Beck wore a green suit with a white and yellow corsage while Mrs. Falconer wore black with a white corsage. Following the ceremony Mrs. Maynard Beck entertained the wedding party at a dinner with eight at the bride's table which was centered with a wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Both were graduates of Lander High School and Mr. Falconer received his honorable discharge from the army in February, after 2 1/2 years service. He is employed by the Penelec Co. at Starbuck. They will make their home for the present with his parents at Lander.

The Foster Cemetery Society met at the home of Mrs. Harry Ludwick Thursday afternoon with seven members and two visitors present. Doris Stanton presided at the business meeting and conducted devotions. It was decided to have a work bee at the cemetery, May 8, weather permitting. Treasurer's report showed a balance of $140.70 in the treasury. Election of officers was held with Leona Walter elected president, Doris Stanton vice president and Lois Lindell secretary and treasurer. A gift of $2.00 was received from Ira Hitchcock. Dues amounted to $1.10. Flower collection $30. Work was started on a quilt. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Mitchell Mahan.

The Farmington P. T. A. are sponsoring a rummage and bake sale April 30 and May 1 in the Grange hall and April 30 in the evening. Members having anything to donate for either one may leave them with Mrs. Ruth Swanson, Doris Stanton or Marian Skinner. There will also be a grab bag.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hammerman of Erie spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Falconer. Gene Young of Cold Springs, Fla., and Tony Deering of Erie spent the weekend at the Falconer home to attend the funeral of Mrs. Grace Loece Hinsdale. Other guests during the week were Mrs. Dick Lawrence and Mrs. Loretta Jaint, both of Erie.

SOCIETY NEWS

Laurie Billstone Takes Over Task Of Directing "Angel Street" For Players

The production staff for the Victorian thriller "Angel Street", which the Warren Players will present May 9-10, is announced today by Helen Israel, program advisor. It has also been made known that because of regrettable circumstances, Mary Hubley Hay is unable to continue as director of the show. To fill this post, the Players were fortunate in securing the talents of Laurie Billstone, one of the early members of Warren Players Club, who returns to Warren after an absence of ten years. Mr. Billstone directed, as well as acted, in many of the club's earlier public shows and studio presentations.

Active in dramatics in high school and at Thiel College, he has carried on his interest in the theatre by promoting dramatics in his work as social worker at the Soho Settlement House in Pittsburgh. Like three members of his cast, he is a war veteran, having only recently returned from service in Germany.

Virginia Billstone, who delighted Warren play-goers as "Madame Arcati" in the recent "Blithe Spirit", will act as assistant director.

"Angel Street", with its background of London in the 1880's, provides an interesting as well as difficult task for the various departments of the production staff. To create an authentic Victorian atmosphere requires on the part of the set, costume and properties committees a great deal of research, let alone a considerable amount of actual search.

Again Joe Acks has been assigned to do the set. Among the smartest and most realistic sets in Players Club history have been the creations of this modest craftsman. Mr. Acks will have as his assistants such well known virtuosi of the hammer, saw and brush as S. Montgomery McClure, Weston Ensworth, Kenneth Graham, Bob Specht, and Marshall Morrow.

Jo Russo heads the costume committee, consisting of Alta Chapel and Betty Anderson. While everyone knows where a bustle is to be found, this seems to be the major preoccupation of this committee.

Lighting will be handled by Bob Dunham, assisted by Bill Dasher and Weston Ensworth. While the every day pursuits of these three gentlemen are providing the utmost in efficient, modern lighting, they are reversing their talents in creating the illusion of gas light—with bad pressure thrown in.

A muffin man's bell is one of the problems that, confronts Louise Neely and Alice Leiding, who have been named co-chairmen of the properties committee. They are being assisted by Patty Smith and Rosalia Creal in securing the vast amount of paraphernalia that cluttered the Victorian scene.

Byron Knapp, who is to Warren Players what Westmore is to Hollywood, will do the make-up. He will be assisted by Rachel Mahaffy, Ann Hyatt and Joyce Erickson, all make-up experts in their own right.

Barbara Cruickshank is the prompter, and the publicity is the work of Nelson Johnson, Carl Johnson and John Miner.

A visit to last night's rehearsal of "Angel Street" impressed this writer that Laurie Billstone has directorial talents rarely found outside of professional circles; that the cast will give Warren Players some of its finest emotional acting; that the production staff is versatile and hard working, and that "Angel Street" is theatre of an enormously exciting sort. The logical conclusion is that Warren play-goers can anticipate a most satisfying evening when "Angel Street" is presented on May 9-10.

PAK's Springtime Schedule Includes Dancing and Hike

A real spring weekend is in store for PAK members with their annual spring dance at the Woman's Club on Saturday evening, and PAK's new Hiking Club's first trek on Sunday afternoon.

Harry Summers Orchestra will provide music for the spring dance, which will be semi-formal as usual, and the committee informs it will provide "special" entertainment and decorations for the occasion.

Roger Brandt, former PAK director and a favorite of the young people, will be here from Boston to attend this spring party.

The PAK-Pikers Hiking Club, to quote the Patter just out, will have its first hike Sunday afternoon to inaugurate a spring and summer program. Perry McDannel, a guide and leader with the Allegheny Hiking Club, will be chief guide, assisted by several other qualified adults.

Bus transportation for 60 and private car transportation for others will be provided, so that some of the most scenic and beautiful spots in Warren county may be visited by the hikers. While hike destinations will not be publicized in advance, information may be obtained from Mr. McDannel by any parent concerned. Every precaution for safety of members will be taken, certain rules to be strictly adhered to in this regard. The bus will leave Market street and Third avenue promptly at two Sunday afternoon, the hike scheduled for a spot 20 miles from town. The return trip will be made no later than seven o'clock Sunday evening.

Members of Preps and Club 17 who wish to go on this hike must sign up with the following committee: Barb Cochran, Betsy Conaway, Shirley Johnson, Bill Taylor, Dora Messner, Tom Hampson, Margy Hanna, Don White, Pat Wade and Bob McDannel.

After-Easter Clearance Better Coats and Suits $17.00 and $23.00

It's common knowledge that Miller values and styles are always tops—always the best you can get in both style and value—early in the season or late in the season. So when you see advertised a reduction in coats and suits at Miller's you can be certain you are really getting something—not mark-downs on accumulated odds and ends, not a few old garments that everyone has seen a dozen times, not off-color styles or things you wouldn't ever want. Instead, you get substantial reductions on authentic new styles, some in the store only a short time—all at still less than Miller's usual low prices—and you get them at a time when you need and wear coats most.

• More than 100 Coats and Suits to choose from.

High School Carnival To Be Big Event

This year's high school carnival, scheduled for Friday evening of this week, promises many fine features for all who attend. The doors will open at 6:45 p. m. and not at 7:15, as was reported yesterday.

The Variety Show will open the program in the auditorium. Bill Hill will MC the show, which includes a chorus line, vocalists and a quartet. Gags, humor, and wit will be the keynote. Music will be provided by the Men About Town.

Following this feature there will be an Auditorium Show which will be emceed by John Erickson, and which promises a good time for all concerned. Ed Wood, arranging this event, sees all, hears all, and tells nothing of what may be expected in the way of entertainment—except that it will be good.

The evening's schedule also includes side shows which have been planned by Frank Peles. For the main show, Louie Chiment and Herb Vall will have a comedy skit; Mona Jean Brooks and Marilyn Dobbs will have special dances; there will be audience participation in part of the program, together with fortune telling and a Wonder House on the side.

The Midway will be in operation throughout the entire evening, with many events to test one's skill.

The night's festivities will be topped off with a dance in the gym, the Men About Town giving out with the music that allures and entices.

SALVAGED FAT MAKES SOAP; EXTENDS FOOD FAT SUPPLY

Used Cooking Fat Makes More Soap For Spring Housecleaning; Releases Edible Fats For Distribution Abroad

"It takes 6 1/2 pounds of salvaged fats per month to make a month's supply of soap for myself, my husband and two youngsters," figures out Gail McArdle, wife of New York illustrator, Jay McArdle.

"To keep the kids and the house clean just normally—not counting something like spring housecleaning—takes approximately 8 bars of toilet soap, 4 bars of yellow soap and 4 boxes of packaged laundry soap each month.

According to experts' figures, it takes 6 1/2 pounds of used cooking fat to make my month's supply of soap."

Mrs. McArdle realizes that she uses soap every day, and therefore should save fat every day. For where there is fat, there is soap, and keeping the venetian blinds, floorboards, mirrors, walls, linoleum, and windows of a seven room house clean requires a lot of soap.

Add to that the laundry of Robin, age two, and John, 6 months, and quantities of soap become an absolute necessity in this household.

Waste Makes Soap
The Department of Agriculture has discovered that in the pre-war days of plenty, 500,000,000 pounds of used fat annually were thrown down the drain.

500,000,000 pounds of household grease is enough to make 20 bars of laundry soap a year for every person in the country.

One pound of salvaged fat is enough to make one large package of granulated laundry soap, about six bars of laundry soap, or about five bars of toilet soap. During 1945 enough fat was salvaged and turned over to meat dealers in this country to make approximately half of the toilet bar soap, all of the laundry bar soap, or about 25% of the heavy duty packaged laundry soaps, or twice as much as was needed to produce the fine fabric packaged soaps.

While the world shortage of fats and oils is reflected in this country by an acute shortage of soap and other industrial products using soap or the by-products of soap in their manufacture, in other countries there is a dearth of the food fats necessary for the maintenance of minimum standards of health.

Because food fats and industrial fats are largely interchangeable, American housewives are being asked by President Truman's Family Emergency Committee to use and reuse all food fats, and then after they have gotten the food value of them, to turn in their used fats for industrial uses.

This will mean that industry will not have to make as great demands on the overall supply of available fats and oils and that more food fats can go to feed the starving.

Save Every Day
The Family Emergency Committee points out that a teaspoon of fat a day saved by every man, woman & school child in the United States will mean a total saving of at least one million pounds of fat a day.

Mrs. McArdle, and every other housewife, has a tremendous opportunity now to help herself, and the rest of the world, by using less fats and oils, getting the maximum good out of what she does use, and then turning over fats that are no longer fit for food to meat dealers for four cents per pound.

In that way, fats and oils will do double duty, first as food, and then to make personal and household goods such as laundry and bar soap, paint, paper, fabrics, leather products, and allow more equitable distribution of fats and oils throughout the fat-hungry world.

Editor's Note: Accompanying sketches were done by Jay McArdle, New York illustrator, of his two sons, who, he points out, are absolutely no help during spring housecleaning season.

BROADWAY

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK—The usual or hitherlands idea of a hugely successful lady novelist is one which includes lavish Manhattan penthouses, pastel-tinted typewriters, literary soirees with servants scraping at every possible whim and a barrel of Martinis and Manhattans ready for the Miss Harris, Sinclair Lewis or whatever hundred or so celebrities are on hand at the moment.

This picture would go swiftly out a window after a few minutes with Taylor Caldwell, whose ten novels in a row in eight years have kept her constantly on the "ten-best" lists.

This Miss Caldwell is from my hometown of Buffalo, where she is the leading literary light, but hardly in the celebrity tradition. Up home, Taylor Caldwell is, for all but about four hours a day, Mrs. Marcus Reback, hard-working homemaker and wife of a quiet little immigration inspector and a husband to care for, and having moved into one of the nicer suburbs which surround the old home town, Mrs. Reback has almost none of the supposed luxuries of best-selling novelists.

She can't find help, and just like any other healthy housewife, she does her household chores herself. She goes a mile-a-minute with dishes and pots, drives her youngsters to and from school and her husband to and from work, and she manages to get at the typewriter only between 11 p. m. and 3 a. m. every night. Even so, she turns out an incredibly large number of words, as we said goodnight to Billingsley, Damon Runyon, Winchell, and the Cub's regulars. "It's just that Marcus isn't used to these late hours. I could keep on like this until dawn."

At which point Marcus put his masculine foot down and amiably got the party moving toward their hotel. He seemed to be the boss, all right.

and with her latest novel, "This Side of Innocence," already crowding the million-sale mark (it's a Literary Guild selection), she is 300 pages on the way with an eleventh best-seller aspirant, and will write a play in the very close future.

Miss Caldwell came to New York last week for a few days of literary swishing about. She made personal appearances on various radio shows, talked with the press and finished arrangements to have "This Side of Innocence" turned into a movie, the first for a new major movie company, Story Productions. Mrs. Reback got $100,000 for her new book, against a ten percent hunk of the producer's profits, which he estimates will bring her a total return of half a million. Producer Armand Deutsch also bought another Caldwell novel, "The Wide House."

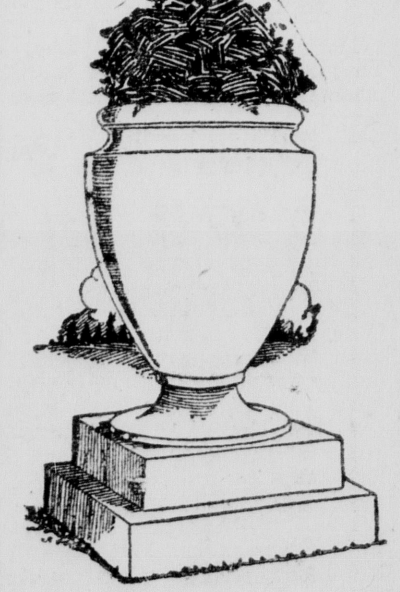

MRS. REBACK'S husband works with a couple of my uncles up in Buffalo, which therefore makes us some sort of close relatives. The Rebacks did a little pub-crawling with me the other evening after appearing on Hildegarde's broadcast. We ended up at the Stork's Club Room, where Mrs. Reback called it quits around 2:30 a. m.

"I'm not tired," she explained, as we said goodnight to Billingsley, Damon Runyon, Winchell, and the Cub's regulars. "It's just that Marcus isn't used to these late hours. I could keep on like this until dawn."

At which point Marcus put his masculine foot down and amiably got the party moving toward their hotel. He seemed to be the boss, all right.

Save All Waste Fats

Here's An Explanation Of Who's Who In Food Famine

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington (AP) — Are you confused by all the names of people and organizations mixed up in the world food famine?

Here's an explanation. There are three main bodies dealing with the problem:

1. UNRRA (The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.)
2. The combined food board, composed of the United States, Canada and Great Britain.
3. The Famine Emergency Committee.

This is what they do:

1. UNRRA supplies food free to certain nations which need it but can't pay for it. They're the only nations which get UNRRA food. Fiorenzo La Guardia, former mayor of New York, is UNRRA's director general.

2. The combined food board's job is to parcel out food for nations which need it but can afford to pay for it. No nation gets food free through the board.

3. President Truman set up the Famine Emergency Committee. It doesn't provide any food. It is publicizing the famine threat abroad and it makes recommendations on how much food should be conserved.

Former president Herbert Hoover, now on a world trip examining famine conditions, is honorary chairman of the emergency committee.

Only 13 nations—because they are too poor to pay for the food they need—get food from UNRRA. They are:

Albania, Austria, the two Soviet Republics of White Russia and the Russian Ukraine, China, Czechoslovakia, Greece, Italy, Poland, Yugoslavia, Finland, Hungary and the Philippine Islands.

But who pays for the food those 13 nations get from UNRRA?

There are 48 member nations in UNRRA, including some which need food but can't pay for it and some which need food but can pay for it.

Those who can pay for it get no food from UNRRA—they have to get it through the Combined Food Board—but nevertheless chip in their share of money to UNRRA to buy food for the nations which can't pay.

That's how UNRRA gets its money for food. It buys what food it handles.

Now take the Combined Food Board. The agriculture secretaries of the three participating countries, the United States, Britain and Canada, are the members of the board.

Under this board are a number of committees which specialize in certain commodities, such as committees on wheat, or oils and fats, or meat.

Various other nations have representatives on these committees: Nations which have enough of a commodity to sell some; and nations which need a commodity and want to buy it. For instance:

The United States, Canada, Australia, and Argentina have enough wheat for their own people and enough left over for nations short of wheat.

So those four countries will be on the wheat committee, together with representatives of nations needing to buy wheat.

The committees figure out how much of a commodity can be sold to nations needing it, and how much each nation gets.

Then the committees make their recommendations to the combined food board which can accept them, change them, or reject them.

Ivanhoe

By Sir Walter Scott

Chapter 12

When Cedric the Saxon saw his son drop down senseless from his wound in the lists at Ashby, his first impulse was to order him into the custody and care of his own attendants, but the words choked in his throat. He ordered, however, Oswald to keep an eye upon him, and set out for home.

The travellers had reached the verge of the wooded country, and were about to plunge into its recesses, held dangerous at that time, but notwithstanding the lateness of the hour, Cedric and Athelstane accounted themselves secure, as they had in attendance ten servants.

As the travellers journeyed on their way, they were alarmed by repeated cries for assistance; and when they rode up to the place from whence they came, they were surprised to find a horse-litter placed upon the ground, beside which sat a young woman, richly dressed in the Jewish fashion, while an old man whose yellow cap proclaimed him to belong to the same nation, walked up and down with gestures expressive of the deepest despair.

To the enquiries of Athelstane and Cedric, Isaac of York (for it was our old friend) said at length that he had hired a body-guard of six men at Ashby, together with mules for carrying the litter of a sick friend. This party having received information from a wood-cutter that there was a strong band of outlaws lying in wait in the woods before them, had not only taken flight, but had carried off with them the horses which bore the litter.

Rebecca, rising, and throwing back her veil, implored in the great name of the God whom they both worshipped, that they have compassion upon them, and suffer them to go forward under their safeguard. "It is not for myself that I pray this favour," said Rebecca, "nor is it even for that poor old man. But it is in the name of one dear to many, and dear even to you, that I beseech you to let this sick person be transported with care and tenderness under your protection."

"The man is old and feeble," said

Rowena to her guardian, "the maiden young and beautiful, their friend sick and in peril of his life—Jews though they be, we cannot as Christians leave them in this extremity. Let them unload two of the sumpter-mules, and put the baggage behind two of the serfs."

Cedric readily assented to what she proposed, and the change of baggage was hastily achieved; for the single word "outlaws" rendered every one sufficiently alert, and the approach of twilight made the sound yet more impressive. Amid the bustle, Gurth, who had been discovered at the journey acting as Ivanhoe's squire and made prisoner, was taken from horseback, in the course of which removal he prevailed upon the Jester to slack the cord with which his arms were bound. Gurth found no difficulty in freeing his arms altogether from bondage, and then, gliding into the thicket, he made his escape from the party.

THE path upon which the party travelled was now so narrow, as not to admit, with any sort of convenience, above two riders abreast. Cedric and Athelstane, who were at the head of their retinue, saw the risk of being attacked at this pass; but neither of them having had much practice in war, no better mode of preventing the danger occurred to them than that they should hasten through the defile as fast as possible. Advancing, therefore, without much order, they were assailed in front, flank, and rear at once, with an impetuosity to which, in their confused and ill-prepared condition, it was impossible to offer effectual resistance. Both the Saxon chiefs were made prisoners at the same moment.

Of all the train none escaped except Wamba, who showed upon the occasion much more courage than those who pretended to greater sense. Finding himself overpowered, the Jester threw himself from his horse, plunged into the thicket, and, favoured by the general confusion, escaped from the scene of action.

Yet the valiant Jester, as soon as he found himself safe, hesitated more than once whether he should not turn back and share the cantivity of a master to whom he was sincerely attached.

Suddenly, a voice very near him called out in a low and cautious tone, "Wamba!"

"Gurth!" answered Wamba, with the same caution, and the swineherd immediately stooped before him.

"What is the matter?" said he eagerly, "what mean these cries, and that clashing of swords?"

"Only a trick of the times," said Wamba, "they are all prisoners. Gurth's countenance kindled—"Wamba," he said, "thou hast a weapon, and thy heart was ever stronger than thy brain—we are only two—but a sudden attack from men of resolution will do much—follow me!"

As the Jester was about to obey, a third person suddenly made his appearance, and commanded them both to halt. From his dress and arms, Wamba would have conjectured him to be one of those outlaws who had just assailed his master; but, besides that he wore no mask,

"What is the meaning of all this," said he, "or who is it that rife, and ransom, and make prisoners, in these forests?"

"You may look at their cassocks close by," said Wamba, "and see whether they be thy children's coats or no—for they are as like thine own as one green pea-cod is to another."

"I will learn that presently," answered Locksley (for so he was known), "and I charge ye, on peril of your lives, not to stir from the place where ye stand, until I have returned."

The yeoman returned in the course of a few minutes.

"Friend Gurth," he said, "I have mingled among yon men, and have learnt to whom they belong, and whither they are bound. For three men to attempt them at this moment were little else than madness; for they are good men of war. But I trust soon to gather such a force as may act in defiance of all their precautions; you are both, as I think, faithful servants, of Cedric the Saxon, the friend of the rights of Englishmen. He shall not want English hands to help him in this extremity. Come then with me, until I gather more aid."

Much Interest Is Manifested In Spring Sing

Much interest was aroused by the announcement made last week that the New Process Company All-Girl Chorus and gentlemen members of former North Warren Civic Club Minstrel Shows are combining forces to stage a Spring Sing in the North Warren Community House on the evening of May 7. And members of both organizations report the public as wondering if the affair is to take the form of a black-face performance.

To set the record straight, we have been asked to report the negative. No minstrel show is contemplated. Instead, a veritable battle of song and singing is planned—with the all girl chorus, its quartet and its soloists pitted against like, but male, talent. In addition, there will be special music by an all string trio. And, as an added attraction, there will be specialty dance numbers by students of the Dawn Williams Studio of the Dance. A more detailed announcement will appear in an early issue.

Tickets for the affair are now on sale, and may be purchased from members of the chorus or at Stokes Studio and the Style Shop in Warren and Sanden's store at North Warren.

Cornelius McGillicuddy, 83, better known as Connie Mack, owner of the Philadelphia Athletics baseball team, and Mrs. McGillicuddy, 70, are no longer as chummy as they were during the final game of the 1945 World Series, above. Mrs. McGillicuddy said they have separated after 35 years of married life, because Mack distributed more than half of his stock in the ball club among three of his sons.

Untired Old Men

Aggregate age of the trio pictured above is 247 years. They're the House of Representatives' three octogenarians who, despite their years, keep congressmen half their age stepping lively to keep up with them. They are, left, top, Robert L. Doughton, 82, of North Carolina, who holds one of the House's top posts—chairman of the Ways and Means Committee; left, bottom, Joseph J. Mansfield, 85, of Texas, who gets around faster in a wheel chair than most members do on their feet; and the newest member of the "80 Year Club," jolly Adolph J. Sabath, just turned 80, who is chairman of the House Rules Committee and "Dean of Congress," with 40 years' continuous service.

Shotgun Bars Eviction

Threatening to blast "as dead as a door nail" anyone who attempts to evict his 72-year-old mother and her family, John Collins, eight-times wounded war veteran, sits with a loaded shotgun at the front door of his partially burned home in New Orleans. The landlord wants the family to move so the burned-out rooms of the house can be rebuilt, but Collins, his mother and brother have nowhere else to live and defy eviction.

Spigots Go Dry As Beer Supply Dwindles In Warren

Those tricky little gadgets which the bartender flips so casually and the foaming brew pours into a glass are not being flipped these days with the avidity and glece that marked days ago. The spigots may be flipped but there is no gush of sprudled water. Over the city Saturday afternoon many a spigot went dry and there was no scurrying to the basement to "tap another". And the sad part of it all is that the spigots remained dry. Several of the tap rooms and taverns yesterday had only bottle beer for their patrons and not a heck of a lot of that. The clubs, too, had their troubles with the dry spigots and the thirsty members who slipped in Sunday to quaff a flowing bowl returned home to turn on the sure flow water spigot.

Beer is scarce. President Truman's order cutting down the grain for use in making the foamy stuff took care of that. It also affected the making of the sternal stuff known as whiskey, technically. Only five days a month are allowed for distilling and the distillers are hard put to make neutral spirits with which to add a percentage of honest to goodness whiskey. So their concoctions are now somewhat akin to that which the Sheffield lumberjacks used to drink back in the days of John Utter and Charley Dick. It has the effect but the bouquet and aroma are but memories.

The situation has had its reactions, and how! Yesterday one of the boys who does life saving for the liquor interests blew into Warren. He rounded up the boys and informed them that right now the United States is 62% dry and that in Warren county there is a strong sentiment for a ballot on whether or not to toss out the various forms of the cheering and inebriating cup. The local brothers

Dragon Seconds Win 18 Out Of 19 Games; Sig Decker Is Highest Pointmaker With 94

Warren High's second team recorded this past season one of the best records ever made by a Dragon second squad. The future varsity aspirants won 18 of their 19 games, losing only to the Bradford Junior Varsity, 23-21.

Every other opponent, the Dragons were able to subdue, and Sig Decker, who will be seeking a varsity center berth next year, was the leading scorer with 94 points in 18 contests.

The record reveals that Joe Massa may have another championship outfit next season, for he has some excellent material coming up to join veteran freshman Gail Nelson, the only second in individual scoring with 80, and Bud Nordfin placed third with 72. The Seconds wound up with a 33-point average per game, compared to a 31-point average garnered by their opponents. The individual averages follow:

Player	G	FG	FT	TP
Decker	18	41	12	94
Reed	17	37	6	80
Bud Nordfin	19	31	10	72
Crook	15	24	10	58
Colosimo	15	25	5	55
Wiegles	18	23	8	54
Delchess	18	20	3	45

McComas	8	5	0	10
Bearfield	12	3	1	7
Hampson	13	3	5	6
Beckwith	13	1	1	3
Ellis	9	1	0	2

The Seconds met their toughest opposition against Bradford, Oil City, and Meadville. The only defeat, to Bradford, was near the finish of the season when the ranks had been invaded for more varsity material. Scores follow:

W	Opp.	Score
Youngsville	40-5	5
Jamestown	44-27	17

Cleveland Rookie Replaces Frankie Hayes, Aids In Win; Bucs and Cards Remain In Tie

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Unless all signs fail, young John Sherman Lollar, Cleveland's rookie backstop, appears headed for major league stardom. Lollar was the big reason for Manager Lou Budreau's decision to rest Frankie Hayes after the veteran catcher had extended his record-breaking consecutive game streak to 312.

The soft-spoken, 21-year-old native of Fayetteville, Ark., in his first starting role with the Indians, doubled with the bases loaded yesterday highlighting a five-run eighth inning rally which gave the Tribe a 5-1 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

The Yankees moved into undisputed possession of first place in the American League by whipping the Boston Red Sox 12-5 with a 15-hit attack against five Sox hurlers. Tex Hughson and Ted Williams, a pair of Hub favorites, disappointed a near record crowd of 30,028 who saw the Sox drop from first to third place.

Hughson, seeking his third straight triumph, failed to last five innings and was charged with the defeat. Williams was roundly booed when he grounded into three successive double plays after poling a 400-foot triple in the fourth inning.

Brooklyn and the St. Louis Cardinals continued their merry battle for first place in the National League as each team won its seventh straight after bowing in the season's opener. The Dodgers routed the Philadelphia Phils, 11-

3, for their 12th consecutive win in Shibe Park.

The Redbirds won their second straight, 3-2, game from the Cincinnati Reds, with Stan Musial again driving in the winning run. Southpaw Howie Pollet, although tagged for nine safe blows, was credited with his second victory of the season.

Tuett (Rip) Sewell, an old nemesis of the Chicago Cubs, tamed the Bruin's attack with a nine-hitter in pitching the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-3 decision over the National League champions. It was Sewell himself who batted in the winning run when his eighth inning single broke a 3-3 deadlock.

Boston's Braves rebounded from their hitless efforts against Brooklyn's Ed Head on Tuesday by raking five New York Giants hurlers for 14 hits including successive home runs by Tommy Holmes and Ray Sanders, to outslug the Polo Grounders, 10-7.

Held scoreless for seven rounds, Washington's Senators rallied for four runs in their half of the eighth to overcome a 1-0 deficit and defeat the Philadelphia Athletics 4-2.

In spite of the fact that iodized salt can help prevent simple goiter, the American Medical Association warns that "persons over 30 years of age with any swelling of the throat that might indicate goiter should not use iodized salt unless they do so under the direction of a physician."

Philippines Are Still Tallying Election

Manila, April 25—(P)—Colorful Manuel Roxas, who campaigned strenuously for the Philippines presidency while incumbent Sergio Osmeña sat silently in the palace, forged into an 82,282 vote lead tonight.

There still was no confirmation of Osmeña headquarters' earlier claims that the rural vote would give him the presidency for the Philippines' first four years of independence.

There were increasing indications that a complete count from remote provinces may require days to reach Manila. It is on such isolated rural areas that Osmeña's managers pin their hopes.

Legan troubles climaxed the outstanding unsuccessful campaign of the third candidate, Dr. Hilario Camino Moncada. As early returns promised him less than one percent of the total vote, the people's court added to his sorrows by scheduling for Monday his arraignment as a collaborator.

TWO LOSE LIVES IN PHILADELPHIA FIRE

Philadelphia, April 25—(P)—Govan Battle, 32, and William Bunch, four, were trapped and burned to death today in a fire that destroyed the interior of a three-story dwelling.

Eight other persons including a fireman were injured. Eleven fled the building unhurt. Origin of the blaze was undetermined.

A three-alarm fire swept a waterfront warehouse destroying tons of paper stored there. The flames spread into two adjoining buildings housing quantities of chemicals and $10,000 worth of meat consigned to the government before being brought under control.

WAR VETERAN DIES IN UNUSUAL CAR CRASH

Aliquippa, April 25—(P)—One man was killed and two injured early today when their auto hurtled down a 50-foot embankment and rammed a crack Baltimore & Ohio Railroad passenger train, which continued on to Pittsburgh, its trainmen aware of the accident.

John Musak, 25, Leetsdale war veteran, was pronounced dead at Sewickley Valley Hospital. Joseph Warner, 31, of Fair Oaks, was hospitalized, suffering severe lacerations, and John Ridekovich, 25, of Ambbridge, escaped with minor injuries.

PITTSBURGH HAS A THREE-ALARM BLAZE

Pittsburgh, April 25—(P)—A three-alarm fire raged by large quantities of acid caused $20,000 damage to the Pittsburgh Products Company plant at First Avenue and Water street.

Firemen battling the blaze in the three-story brick building were hampered by smoke but Fire Chief Chief William H. Davis reported no one was hurt. The fire was believed to have started near an elevator shaft.

The acid was used in electroplating work. Smoke damaged three adjacent buildings.

GI Flying Program Under Way At Warren Airport

The Veterans Flight Training Program which has been instituted at the Warren Airport is now under way. Students are flying from early morning until late at night. Ground school, also is conducted twice each week.

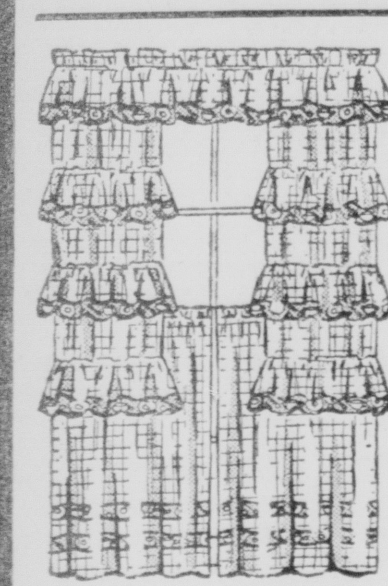

John K. Schwone, of 124 East Wayne street has the honor of being the first man of the GI group to solo and he made his flight after eight hours of dual control. He did an excellent job of flying on his first venture into the air alone. His instructor is William F. "Bud" Maier.

The King Air Service Flying School is fully approved as a primary, CAA flight and ground school, is also approved by the Pennsylvania State Aeronautic Commission, the Pennsylvania Board of Instruction and the Veterans Administration.

Negotiations are now in progress for the expansion of facilities so that the school will also be rated as an advanced Flying School. Applications are being accepted to enter this advanced training for Commercial Pilots and Flight Instructor ratings as well.

SPEAKING FOR AMERICA

"On ordered rows of crosses and Stars of David on the Pacific islands are names that are a cross-section of democracy: Culpepper, Tomiano, Sweeney, Bromberg, Depew, Melloy, Ponzani. They fought together as comrades in arms; they died together and now they sleep side by side. Only with the same teamwork can we be sure that their sacrifices will make a better, safer world in which to live. United we fought and united we prevail."

Daylight Time Goes Into Effect At Midnight Tomorrow

In common with most of the towns and cities of the state Warren will adopt daylight savings time for the summer months beginning at midnight tomorrow.

The fast time will be in effect until midnight September 28. All clocks in the borough will be turned ahead one hour Saturday night, if you don't forget it.

The Pennsylvania railroad and the air mail will continue to use Eastern Standard time.

Down at Harrisburg the State Capitol will have its employees simply come to work and quit one hour earlier but the clocks will not be turned ahead as the State Law requires the state to operate on Eastern standard time. The only monkeying with the capitol clocks is done when the legislature is about to adjourn at a set time and a sturdy guy is perched in the Senate and House galleries with orders not to let the clocks reach the "adjourning hour" until he gets the signal.

As usual there will be a lot of griping about the adoption of fast time but the average guy will just set his clock ahead and forget it until its time to turn it back again next September.

Prizes Given Contest Winners At Youngsville On Thursday

For several weeks past pupils in the Youngsville schools have been busy making posters and writing essays in the annual contest conducted by the Brokenstraw Fish and Game Club. Scores of the pupils in the schools entered into the contest wholesouled and some of the work done was exceedingly clever and artistic, especially in the poster contest. To provide ideas for the young people Gurney Ball distributed a large number of the posters of the State Game Commission in the schools. Posters that were entered in the contest are displayed at the Youngsville National Bank.

Awarding of the prizes was made yesterday in both the poster and essay contest. The awards were made at an assembly held in the High School auditorium and Game Protector George Norris was present and spoke to the groups. So inspiring was his talk that several boys have been fired to take up Game Protection as a career.

The winners were:
Grade 5—Robert Albright.
Grade 6—Anne Sweetland with Albright the group winner.
Grade 7—Patsy Patchen, also group winner.
Grade 8—Ted Smith.
Grade 9—Mary Ann Shurwin.
Grade 10—Ruth Brezell—also group winner.
Juniors—Florence Freeman—also group winner.
Seniors—John Donaldson.

Outing Club Plans Dinner For Members

One of the affairs staged by the Marconi Outing Club for its members and one lady during the season will be given next Sunday evening when from 5 to 8 o'clock spaghetti dinner will be served. The affair promises to be largely attended and a very happy occasion.

One week from Saturday evening there will be a fine affair staged at the club when the Penelec Bowlers will hold a dinner and remain for the entertainment. Bowlers from Johnstown and other places where leagues are competitive will come to Warren for the all-offs and the day will be closed with a frolic at the club.

For this weekend Frank Williams is bringing one of the best color show bills to the club that has been picked in a long time. It will be headed by Don Bruce a musical encee who has a number of novelty numbers that marks him as a high class entertainer. Jainty Patti Ryan a bundle of drollery and entertainment will please the crowd. Gloria French, one of those personality girls is expected to repeat her success here she has met with Cleveland and Detroit where she is looked upon as a top notch entertainer.

Students Will Frolic At High School Tonight

Tonight is the night. And the reason for all the hustle and bustle up and down the corridors of the high school building is, of course, the great annual carnival of fun and frolic presented by the Student Council.

Despite all conflicting reports, the last word has it that the doors will open at 7:15 p. m. From then on, events will adhere closely to the following schedule:

Variety Show, 7:30-8:30; Auditorium Show, 8:30-9:15; Midway, 7:15-10:15; Games, 7:15-10:15; Side Shows, time posted.

The concluding feature, dancing in the gym will get under way at ten o'clock and last until midnight, with music by the Men About Town.

Old and young, big and little, are extended a cordial invitation by the Student Council to "come and have fun".

High-producing dairy cows require large amounts of minerals in their feed.

Farm Groups Are Heard On OPA Extension

Called as witnesses before the senate banking committee were: Ed O'Neal, president of the National Farm Bureau Federation; Albert Goss, master of the National Grange; James Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, and C. W. Holman, secretary of the National Cooperative Milk Producers Federation.

The committee also planned to hear from Richard A. Colgan, executive vice president of the National Lumber Manufacturing Association, about the building materials situation. Price Administrator Paul Porter has testified the black market situation is not good in a number of building supplies, particularly southern lumber.

Meanwhile, Senator Guffey (D-Penn.) told a reporter that his mail on the matter of extending OPA is so great he has had to hire an extra clerk to handle it. He said it is 99 per cent in favor of extension without trimming-down amendments which the house has voted.

Few Facts About Fast Time You Should Keep In Mind

By ARLENE WOLF
AP News Features Writer
New York, April 26—(P)—Got the time, mister?

Wait a minute, now—looking at your watch isn't going to help a bit. Now that daylight saving is coming back (April 28) the question won't be what time it is, but where are you?

During the war, everybody had the equivalent of daylight saving. You might have said that daylight saving was standard time. Now pushing the clocks ahead again will be a local proposition. Some will do it, and some won't.

For example—You're in New York City and want to telephone Aunt Mary in California after dinner. It's seven o'clock Eastern Daylight Saving Time, and normally there's three hours difference between your time and Aunt Mary's. Now it will be different. When New York pushed its clocks ahead, Aunt Mary and all the other Californians didn't. That means there's a four hour difference. It's only three o'clock in California, and Aunt Mary's probably on the last of her after-lunch 40 winks, and she'll be mad if your call wakes her.

And if you think not having an aunt in California is going to get you out of this time mess, you're mistaken. If you want to take a little trip, you'll have to take into account which time the railroad is operating on. The New York Central, for instance, is going to stick to standard time, while the Pennsylvania railroad is pushing its clocks ahead. The question now is if you're in a standard area, and want to take a train that runs on daylight saving time, where are you? Either too late or too early for train-time probably.

Just listening to the radio during these I-didn't-know-what-time-it-was days will be confusing too. Both the National Broadcasting company and the Columbia Broadcasting System are going on daylight saving. That, however, does not mean that they're advancing the program times one hour. If Kaptivating Kiddies normally are on the air now at 7 p. m., they'll still be on at 7 p. m., only it really will be 6 p. m., because they're on daylight saving, see?

If you're in a non-daylight saving time community, your local radio station will do one of two things—either put the program through at the new hour (which is the old hour in New York), or record the program and put it through at your old hour.

To add to the confusion, the American Broadcasting Company is going to try to operate on both times. The network says it's all very simple.

For example, a program that is on the air from New York at 1:30 Eastern Standard Time will go out at 2:30 Eastern Daylight Time, which is really 1:30 Standard Time. So far so good. That brings said program to Chicago at 1:30 Central Daylight Time, which is fine for Chicago, but not so fine for the rest of the area which is on Standard Time. So, to avoid the Standard Time cities getting their programs too early, the programs will be recorded, held at Chicago, and rebroadcast at the regular time for the Standard Time cities.

Some states have barred Daylight Saving completely—Mississippi, Texas, Oregon, Kansas, Arizona, Washington, Utah, Minnesota, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Wisconsin, Michigan, North Carolina, Iowa, Oklahoma, California, Maryland, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Arkansas, Georgia, North Dakota, and South Dakota. As long as you stay within those states, you're all set—on the old time.

Some other states have voted for Daylight Saving on a state-wide basis—Connecticut, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Vermont. As long as you stay within those states, you're all set—on the new time.

But come on over into the remainder—the states that permit individual localities to decide what time it is. In Missouri, if you're in St. Louis, it will be Daylight Saving. If you're in Kansas City, it won't. Ohioans in Youngstown and Zaneville will gain an hour. Those in Akron, Cincinnati, Dayton, Toledo, and Cleveland will not.

Down south, some people in Tennessee will push their clocks ahead, and some won't—including the citizens of Memphis, Knoxville and Nashville. In Birmingham, Ala., it will be four o'clock and time for tea, while in Montgomery, Ala., it will be five o'clock, and a bit too late.

Miami residents will push the clock forward, those in Jacksonville will not. Augusta, Me., will have daylight saving, but Augusta, Ga., won't. Portland, Ore., goes on the new time, Portland, Me., sticks to the old.

If you want to go from anywhere in Virginia to anywhere in West Virginia your chances for being mixed up are better than wonderful, because both states leave it to the locality to decide whether it is or isn't earlier than it was. Business men in Detroit (old time) going to Chicago will be there an hour later than they would have been before Chicago went on Daylight Saving, but if they continue on to Cincinnati, they'll be right back where they started from.

Now do you understand?

TURN CLOCKS AHEAD

To use a Shakespearean phrase, "The time is out of joint,"—or will be, come two a. m., next Sunday.

For at that "witching hour" timepieces in six states and many points in 18 others will be pushed forward one hour to start postwar daylight saving time. Twenty-four other states and the District of Columbia, in a different frame of mind, will remain on Standard Time.

Daylight Saving Time was replaced by War Time during the late hostilities, when clocks throughout the nation were set one hour ahead of Standard Time. That time system ended last September after three years and eight months.

Since the borough council has decreed that fast time be adopted for Warren, it behooves all citizens to act accordingly tomorrow night, when clocks should be turned ahead one hour. Other towns in the county are following the pattern set by city dads here.

DUFF IS FAR-SEEING

Hon. James Duff, candidate for governor on the Republican ticket, spoke at the court house yesterday and it is to be regretted that every person in this area did not hear him. He spoke on a topic which is dear to the hearts of all in this section—conservation and against stream pollution. He urged greater care in cutting our forests and care in keeping the streams clean. He accented recreation and pointed out that this area has untold advantages as a playground for thousands.

This point has been made before by the Times-Mirror and people are beginning to awaken, but there is still no concerted effort made to build in the woods and along the streams the cottages that persons must have if they are to spend their vacations here.

In the Poconos, Adirondacks and New England States facilities are afforded by private capital by which tourists are invited, met and entertained. Those areas offer nothing that this section does not have. Our scenery is as beautiful, our streams as gurgling and our sunsets as magnificent.

Had Warren county, McKean and Elk counties the cottages, small hotels in the woods and camping facilities for campers and hikers the area would be the mecca for thousands. R. F. Hemingway this past week stated that inquiries were fairly pouring into the local forestry office and must by virtue of the shortsightedness of the community be answered "there are no facilities for you."

A speaker at a recent Chamber of Commerce dinner held in the Y. W. C. A. gave it as his opinion that "Warren's future is in its hills and streams." And that is true. Warren does not have the railroads to attract large factories and any water transportation is scores of years away. Dollars derived from tourist trade are as big and as round as dollars derived from factory smoke, so why not let the tourists pile up dollars for us?

CITIES SHOULD ACT

Many states of the nation have indicated through recent announcement of planned public works projects that they will add substantially to national employment and general prosperity. Those who have been hard hit by post-war curtailments are ready to start as soon as materials are available.

Cities of the nation are also concentrating on general improvement programs and their projects, when in full swing, should add substantially to the expected business and industrial boom. A recent survey revealed, however, that some cities and states have been lax in their planning. If this report applies to any city in need of major improvements, then it should begin now to take note of unemployment among returned war veterans and help solve at least that one problem.

Her car stalled at a traffic light. She stamped on the starter, tried again, choked her engine, while, behind her, an impatient motorist honked his horn steadily, says Reader's Digest. Finally she got out and walked back. "I'm awfully sorry, but I don't seem to be able to start my car," she told the driver of the other car pleasantly. "If you'll go up there and start it for me, I'll stay here and lean on your horn!"

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

Thus saith the Lord, Stand ye in the ways, and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye shall find rest for your souls.—Jeremiah 6:15.

Absence of occupation is not rest; a mind quite vacant is a mind distressed.—Cowper

Just a Year Ago Today—

This was Adolf Hitler's bleeding and dying Germany on April 26, 1945. Anglo-American troops from the west and Russian troops from the east roamed in comradeship through the torn streets of Torgau. Their historic junction had cut the Nazi homeland in half. Nazi armies fell apart like cards as Allied advances gained greater speed. The Russians captured Stettin, circled besieged Berlin, seized Brienn and Breslau, extended bridgeheads on the Elbe river. The British took Bremen. American forces drove toward the Elbe, neared the Austrian border, took Parma and Verona in Italy. The French captured Constance, thrust into Italy. The Axis was badly bent, soon would snap.

Shope was moved to Ford street. Frank Ruhlman whose Garage and Repair Shop was recently burned is now rebuilding a much larger shop on his place up Matthews Run.

Rapp and Wilcox who recently went into business on East Main street have now a good deal of fishing and hunting equipment.

Not only is Youngsville starting a number of new enterprises but the older established business are nearly all remodeling and making various improvements. There, may be, we do not know of store in town, which has not made some decided improvements, some of them extensive covering hundreds of dollars, within a year.

This Thursday evening a Boy

Scout sponsored pancake supper is being held in the Grange Hall. Both of Youngsville Scout troops have recently made a paper collection for the vacation fund.

Don't forget that Youngsville goes on daylight saving at midnight Saturday. One pastor in town last Sunday warned his congregation to remember the change of time and did not arrive at church just as he was pronouncing the benediction.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bowers, Harland Crosby, Mr. and Mrs. John Yaggle were recent visitors at Emporium.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Husted were guests of the latter's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Kemp of Chautauqua, N. Y.

Youngsville high school will have two contests at the State Forensic League contests to be held at Johnstown Friday, April 26. The local school will be represented by Miss Janet Jones, piano winner of the district forensic contest and Donald (Dale) Hillard, also district winner, will play his trombone numbers with Stewart Smith his accompanist.

Chapter 13

IT was after three hours' good walking that the servants of Cedric, with their mysterious guide, arrived at a small opening in the forest. Here four or five yeomen lay stretched on the ground, while another, as sentinel, walked to and fro in the moonlight shade.

Upon hearing the sound of feet approaching, he watch instantly gave the alarm, and the sleepers as suddenly started up and bent their bows. Six arrows placed on the string were pointed towards the quarter from which the travellers approached when their guide, being recognized, was welcomed with every token of respect and attachment, and all signs and fears of a rough reception at once subsided.

"Disperse and seek your companions. I go to the hermit's chapel and collect whosoever be there. Collect what force you can, for there's game afoot that must be hunted hard, and will turn to bay. Meet me here by daybreak.—And, stay," he added, "I have forgotten what is most necessary of the whole—Two of you take the road quickly towards Torquilstone, the Castle of Front-de-Boeuf. A set of gallants, who have been masquerading in such guise as our own, are carrying a band of prisoners thither—Watch them closely, for even if they reach the castle before we collect our force, our honour is concerned to punish them."

While these measures were taking in behalf of Cedric and his companions, the armed men by whom the latter had been seized, hurried their captives along towards the place of security, where they intended to imprison them.

Cedric no sooner saw the turrets of Front-de-Boeuf's castle raise their grey and moss-grown battlements above the wood by which they were surrounded, than he instantly augured more truly concerning the cause of his misfortune.

"I did injustice," he said, "to the thieves and outlaws of these woods."

De Bracy, for it was he and the Templar who had captured the train, winced his horn three times, and the archers and cross-bow men, who had manned the wall upon seeing their approach, hastened to lower the drawbridge, and admit them. Their guards gave Athelstane and Cedric to understand that they were to be imprisoned in a chamber apart from Rowena. Resistance was vain; and they were compelled to follow to a large room.

The Lady Rowena was next separated from her train, and conducted, with courtesy, indeed, but still without consulting her inclination, to a distant apartment. The same alarming distinction was conferred on Rebecca, in spite of her father's entreaties. "Base unbeliever," answered one of his guards, "when thou hast seen thy lair, thou wilt not wish thy daughter to partake it." And, without further discussion, the old Jew was forcibly dragged off in a different direction from the other prisoners.

THE poor Jew had been hastily thrust into a dungeon-vault of the castle, the floor of which was deep beneath the level of the ground, and very damp, being lower than even the moat itself.

At one end of this ghastly apartment was a large fire-grate, over the top of which were stretched some transverse iron bars, half devoured with rust.

With his garment collected beneath him to keep his limbs from the wet pavement, Isaac sat in a corner of his dungeon without altering his position, for nearly three hours, at the expiry of which steps were heard on the dungeon stair. The bolts screamed as they were withdrawn—the hinges creaked as the wicket opened, and Reginald Front-de-Boeuf, followed by the two Saracen slaves of the Templar, entered the prison.

Front-de-Boeuf, a tall and strong man, whose life had been spent in public war or in private feuds and broils, and who had hesitated at no means of extending his feudal power, had features corresponding to his character, and which strongly expressed the fiercer and more malignant passions of the mind.

The black slaves who attended Front-de-Boeuf were stripped of their gorgeous apparel, and attired in jerkins and trowsers of coarse linen, their sleeves being tucked up above the elbow, like those of butchers when about to exercise their function in the slaughterhouse. Each had in his hand a small panner.

The Norman paused within three steps of the corner in which the unfortunate Jew had now, as it were, coiled himself up into the smallest possible space, and made a sign for one of the slaves to approach. The black satellite came forward accordingly, and, producing from his basket a large pair of scales and several weights, he laid them at the feet of Front-de-Boeuf.

The motions of these men were slow and solemn, as if there impended over their souls some preconcerted horror and of cruelty. Front-de-Boeuf himself opened the scene by thus addressing his ill-fated captive.

"Most accursed dog of an accursed race," he said, awaking with his deep and sullen voice the sullen echoes of his dungeon vault, "seest thou these scales?"

"The unhappy Jew returned a feeble affirmative.

"In these very scales shalt thou weigh me out," said the relentless Baron, "a thousand silver pounds, after the just measure and weight of the Tower of London."

"Holy Abraham!" returned the Jew. "Not within the walls of York, ransack my house and that of all my tribe, wilt thou find the tithe of that huge sum of silver that thou speakest of."

"I am reasonable," answered Front-de-Boeuf, "and if silver be scant, I refuse not gold. At the rate of a mark of gold for each six pounds of silver, thou shalt free thy unbelieving carcass from such punishment as thy heart has never even conceived."

Violet K. Gantz Becomes Bride Of David T. Ristau

The Salem Evangelical church was the scene of a beautiful Easter wedding, at 5 p. m. Sunday, when Rev. S. R. Schieb united in marriage Miss Violet K. Gantz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Nelson, of Jackson Run road, and David T. Ristau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ristau, 36 Locust street.

Snadragons and calla lilies, with lighted cathedral candles, formed the setting at the altar. Wedding music was furnished by Miss Ruth Ackert, pianist, who played "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Annabelle Ristau, who was gown in pink taffeta, made with sweetheart neckline, and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations. The same flowers were used as a tiara.

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her step-father. Her lovely gown of white marquisette was fashioned with fitted bodice and off-the-shoulder neckline. Her floor length veil was held by a tiara of white carnations and she carried an arm bouquet of the same flowers. Her only jewelry was a bracelet, a gift from one of her girl friends.

The bride's mother wore a suit dress of melon, with navy accessories and a sweet pea corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of navy, with matching accessories and a sweet pea corsage.

The best man was the brother of the bridegroom, Charles H. Ristau. A reception followed at the church, where the bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom and flanked by bouquets of snapdragons and calla lilies.

A supper was given for the newlyweds at the bridegroom's home.

The bride has been employed at the Solar Electric Corporation plant, and Mr. Ristau served three years in the army, with two years in the Pacific theatre with the First Cavalry.

Singing Here On Sunday

Donald Butterworth, shown above as director of the Houghton College Choir, returns to his former home Sunday when his choristers sing in Grace Methodist church. He was a resident of Warren when his father was pastor of First Free Methodist church, some 20 years ago.

Members and friends of Grace Methodist church are looking forward to a genuine musical treat when the Houghton College Choir appears in a four o'clock vesper concert on Sunday afternoon. The public is invited to enjoy the visitors' program, which opens with a group of organ numbers played by Prof. David Heydenburg, of the college music faculty.

Numbers presented by the singers include compositions by such outstanding writers as Bach, Randall Thompson, Brahms, Noble Cain, and Nathaniel Dett. The choir concludes each of its presentations with a group of well-known hymns especially arranged for the choir. The variety of musical expression in their programs has been profoundly inspiring to choir audiences everywhere they have appeared.

Donald Butterworth conducts the group of 42 singers. He joined the faculty of the Houghton College division of music this past fall, as instructor in voice. He received his undergraduate and graduate training at the Eastman School of Music at Rochester, from which he holds both the bachelor of music and master of music degrees.

As soon as school opens in the fall, the choir begins intensive rehearsal of four hours a week. When the technical problems of the music are mastered, attention is focused on interpretation. Through their singing, the choristers seek to bring spiritual inspiration to their audience. The fact that only a small portion of the choir membership is studying music adds to the amazement expressed at their superior performance.

Today's hand came from Mrs. P. E. De Rochi of Ridgewood, N. J., who asked me to comment on the bidding. Most experts agree that it is not necessary to open this type of hand with a forcing two-bid, because if you find a fit with your partner, the opponents are more likely to double after a one-bid opening.

Therefore I agree with Mrs. De Rochi on opening with one heart, but I do not agree with her other bids.

North's bid of three hearts showed at least four hearts, probably four to the king, certainly a minimum of three to the king. After this very strong bid I think that South should have jumped to seven hearts immediately.

In case the adverse diamonds all were in the West hand, South's bid of four diamonds might have directed West to open a diamond in

New Boys' Work Secretary Takes Over At the Y. M. C. A.

It was announced today by R. L. Blodgett, chairman of the Y. M. C. A.'s personnel committee, that Cyril J. Little has arrived in Warren and has officially entered upon his duties as Boys Work Secretary of the local Association.

Mr. Little arrived in Warren last night and with his wife and 2-year-old son has established residence at 350 Fifth Avenue East. By Monday of next week, the new Boys worker will be able to assume a full schedule of duties as a member of the staff.

The announcement by Mr. Blodgett emphasized the fact that Mr. Little is not replacing any other "Y" staff man, but is completing the normal staff organization of three full-time men. During the last two years, because of the shortage of qualified young men for Boys Work positions, the Warren Y. M. C. A. has been compelled to operate under the handicap of a vacancy in this position.

Lloyd Shirk will continue on the staff with a slight change in responsibilities and title. Mr. Shirk will continue in charge of the Physical department, with a second major responsibility in the field of men's social and educational work. His title therefore will be the combined one of Physical Education and Men's Work Secretary. In the general men's program activity field Mr. Shirk will work through the newly formed Y's Men's Club, which has assumed responsibility for development of this area of the local work.

Filling of the Boys Work position will give General Secretary Ralph H. Wagner more time to devote to the supervision and planning required for growing and expanding program and program facilities. The membership of the "Y" has been steadily increasing during the last several years, despite obstacles created by the war; and the interests and needs of this large group of men and boys present a challenge to the staff which can be met only by increased efforts and services.

Mr. Little is a graduate of Lebanon Valley college, and he and his wife both consider Lebanon, Pa., their home city. The new secretary was honorably discharged from the Navy several months ago, in which service he was a Pharmacist's Mate, with a commendable record in U. S. and overseas theatres of action. His primary responsibilities will be to develop and supervise "Y" boys' clubs, to improve the social, cultural and religious activities of the boys members; to lead in the camping and other outdoor activities, and to otherwise stimulate and guide the Boys work program.

Installation of Rev. Gould Will Highlight Convention

The 16th annual state convention, including the 13th annual state women's conference, of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches will be held in Harrisburg on Monday and Tuesday, April 29-30, beginning at 1:30 p. m. in Grace Methodist church. This convention should prove to be one of the most outstanding events in the history of the Council, for it marks the beginning of a new era in its work in post-war conditions and under new leadership.

At this convention, a great step forward will be taken for united protestantism in Pennsylvania, when Rev. Ivan M. Gould, Philadelphia, will be installed as joint secretary of the two great state-wide bodies, the Pennsylvania Council of Churches and the Pennsylvania Council of Christian Education.

Rev. Ivan M. Gould

Governor Edward Martin and Dr. Daniel Poling, leader of the World Christian Endeavor movement, will participate in the service of installation on Monday evening. Provision is being made to accommodate 1400 church and Sunday school workers who will gather from all sections of the Keystone state.

Rev. Gould, a native Pennsylvanian, comes from a Philadelphia family long prominent in church and civic affairs. He is a graduate of Syracuse University and Union Theological Seminary. After a long island pastorate, he served eight years as director of youth work of the International Council of Religious Education and executive secretary of the United Christian Youth Movement. During the war he was given leave from the International Council to be general secretary of the Service Men's Christian League, and has gained nationwide recognition among leading protestant denominations for his administration and direction of that agency. Because of his wide experience in work with local churches and cooperative bodies, Mr. Gould is well qualified to serve as the joint secretary of these two state bodies, which represent a combined membership of more than five million persons in Pennsylvania.

Jim Giunta Posts Games Of 212-212-247 to Grab a Total Of 671 In Buffalo Tourney

The Knights of Columbus bowling team, paced by Dr. Jim Giunta, rolled into twelfth position in the American Bowling Congress' five-man event standings last night at Buffalo with a 2909 total.

A telephone call last night from Buffalo revealed the news. The Knights, in the 43rd annual world championship tournament, rolled at 8:30 last night and posted games of 885, 948, and 976 for the 2909 total.

Captained by Sammy Cosmano, the K. of C. entered the tourney with the Marconi Club. The bowlers rolled their two-man and individual events this morning at nine-thirty.

Giunta was the sparkplug that set the Knights afire last night. He sent his single games into a 671 total, an average of 224 per game. Others on the team were Mike Bleech with a 572, Frank Gerardi with 539, Paul Coppola with 537, and Sam Cosmano with a second high of 530.

Additional information will be published on Monday.

The following scores were made in the doubles at the 9:30 shift this morning:

Harry Wooster 537; Norm Wooster 580—total 1117; Jimmy Thomas 512; Fred Gagliardi 553—total 1065; Frank Gerardi 484; Frank Willard 450—total 934; James Giunta 552; Paul Coppola 545—total 1097.

Singles scores were as follows: Harry Wooster 563; Norm Wooster 577; Jimmy Thomas 557; Fred Gagliardi 591; Frank Gerardi 502; Frank Willard 503; James Giunta 560; Paul Coppola 619.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 26—(P)—The crack Meister Brau Beer team of Chicago, national match game champion and holder of a cool 1000 plus average, was expected to make a strong bid for honors at the American Bowling Congress' tournament today.

Leading the squad is Paul Krumbske, who recently won the national doubles match game championship with his teammate Joe Sinke on a 212 average. Krumbske is the current leader in both divisions of Chicago's famous classic league with a 205 average.

Highlights of last night's bowling was a 2909 series by an unheralded K. of C. team from Warren, Pa. James Giunta, who registered a 671 gross on steady games of 212-212-247, led the squad.

Others rolling yesterday was on the sluggish side. Alfred May and Art Diefenbach, of Erie, Pa., had the best doubles count. A 1227. May posted a 605, and Diefenbach a 622.

Buffalo goes on daylight saving time Sunday, and ABC secretary Elmer Baumgarten has announced that the tournament will follow suit, with all rolling schedules advanced one hour.

John Busk and Joe Benson were the shoe repair men for almost half a century in Warren.

Joe Connors Is Cage Head At Erie Prep

Oil City, April 25—J. J. (Joe) Connors, former Oil City High School football coach and from 1935 to 1941 head grid and basketball coach at St. Joseph's, has signed a contract to serve as basketball coach at Erie Cathedral Prep.

In making the announcement this morning Rev. Robert McDonald, headmaster of Cathedral Prep, revealed that Coach Connors will serve as assistant football coach and will teach either mathematics or chemistry.

Connors succeeded Sam Yerzyski, former Notre Dame court star, as head basketball coach at Prep, and will inherit an all veteran team which was judged by observers as the best scholastic quintet in Erie at the close of the 1945-46 season.

Pick-Ups Win Over Kane, 61 To 49, at YM

The Warren Pick-Ups scored their second win over the Kane "Y" five last night by handing the former Wolves a 61-49 licking on the local YMCA hardwood.

Joe Scallie, leading pointmaker for the Dragons two seasons ago, and Jack Eaton and Al Babcock from this year's regional championship five led the Warren outfit with 47 of the team's 61 markers.

In the opening stanza, Kane walked away with a 17-11 margin lead, but Warren closed the gap in the second and forged ahead on a wild scoring spree that netted the locals 25 points. At halftime, Warren led, 36-27.

Kane whittled the Warren lead to 51-44 going into the last canto, but the locals showed accuracy under pressure in the final period to outpoint their opponents and cap a 12-point decision.

Ruth Manager In Mexican League?

New York, April 26—(P)—The one and only Babe Ruth, baseball's retired sultan of swat, may get a chance to manage a club in the Mexican Baseball League and thus fulfill one of his most cherished ambitions.

The great Bambino, an idol to thousands of both grownups and youngsters, hinted at this development early today when asked to comment on reports that Jorge Pasquel, president of the Mexican circuit, had contacted him.

"I haven't heard a thing as yet," declared the slugger, whose 60 homers in 1927 still stands as a major league record. "I might go down there for a visit and look over the situation."

"But I wouldn't be interested as a player," he added significantly.

Church Softball Circuit Meeting

The YMCA-Church softball league will hold its first meeting of the 1946 season Monday at eight o'clock at the YMCA, according to Lloyd Shirk, program secretary at the Y.

All teams and interested individuals are invited to attend. Representatives from First and Grace Methodist, First and St. Paul's Lutheran, Presbyterian, Baptist, and other church and organizations are asked.

Thirteen One of 125 Injured Remain in Hospitals With Some in Critical Condition

(From Page One)

"How I came out alive, I'll never know."

At the station, James Tanguay, flagman on the Advance Flyer left the rear coach and told passengers, "I'm going to stop that train behind us."

But before he had walked a dozen steps, the Exposition Flyer roared toward the stalled train and with brakes screeching and sparks flying from its wheels, struck the rear coach of the Advance Flyer.

The Red Cross quickly set up disaster relief headquarters at the scene and help came from all sides. Across the tracks, hundreds of workers in a furniture factory rushed to give aid. Fifty students of North Central College quit classes to serve as litter bearers. Uninjured passengers worked feverishly to render aid to the scores of victims.

Edward Flynn, executive vice president of the railroad, said the automatic signal systems had been functioning properly. The unscheduled stop of the Advance Flyer was made when trouble developed in the undercarriage of the train, he said.

The engineer suffered a skull fracture, the prosecutor said, and will not be arraigned on the manslaughter warrant for at least two weeks or until he is released from a hospital where he is under guard. His bond was fixed at $5,000.

MOTHER'S DAY IS SUNDAY, MAY 12th

METZGER-WRIGHT'S

Joins Parents' Magazine in saying

"LET'S GO A-MOTHERING"

A message from
Mrs. Clara Savage Littledale
Editor of PARENTS' MAGAZINE

Mother's Day is now nationally observed by special legislative edict and the request of governors. Chambers' Book of Days reporting on the customs of rural England in the middle eighteen hundreds says: "Among old customs was a practice of going to see parents, especially the female one, on the middle Sunday of Lent, taking for them some little present, such as a cake or a trinket. A youth engaged in this amiable act of duty was said to go a-mothering, and thence the day itself came to be called Mothering Sunday." But whatever its background or auspices, it is good that we have Mother's Day. Children—little ones and big ones and grown ones—need that Day. Too often it is difficult in the daily round of things, to say what we feel, to give words to our deepest emotions. The moment does not come. And yet, how much we all need and long to give expression to what we deeply feel! This is the beauty of Mother's Day. Little children, older boys and girls, grown men and women can voice on that Day—perhaps with gifts or flowers, perhaps by card or words—perhaps only by remembering what is a profound reality to us all. For what we all deeply need and want to say on the second Sunday of May, no matter what our age, is "Mother, I love you."

We Have the Gifts Mothers Want

How do we know what Mothers really want? PARENTS' MAGAZINE told us! More than 5,000 Mothers responded to a recent PARENTS' survey. Shown here are some of the gifts that are high on the list of what Mothers say would please them.
